SceneReVis(Ours)

This minimalist dining room features a long rectangular light oak dining table centered along the length of the space, surrounded by eight slim black metal-framed dining chairs with light gray upholstered seats, four on each long side and none at the ends. At one end of the room, a low white sideboard stands against the long axis, with a narrow black metal-framed console table positioned directly beside it, holding a simple ceramic bowl, a small rectangular black tray, and a tall clear glass carafe with a matching glass next to it. Along one long side, a slender open black metal shelving unit with three tiers holds a pair of white storage boxes, two small potted plants in plain gray planters, and a stack of neatly arranged white plates, while a minimalist black floor lamp with a slim stem and small round shade stands next to the shelves. On the opposite long side, a narrow bench with a light oak seat and black metal legs sits parallel to the table, accompanied by a small round black side table at one end, a single armless accent chair with a muted beige fabric seat facing the table, and a compact bar cart with two wooden shelves and metal frame holding three clear glass bottles, two wine glasses, and a small metal ice bucket, keeping the dining room organized and neat.

Gym

This open-plan traditional-style gym features a central row of six black metal squat racks with matching barbell sets facing a line of three heavy-duty flat weight benches, with a pair of adjustable dumbbell racks in chrome and dark wood finish running parallel to them. In one corner, four classic wooden-framed cardio machines (two treadmills and two ellipticals) face a freestanding mirrored storage console, while a leather-upholstered Roman chair sits next to a vintage-style wooden plyometric box and a polished steel-and-wood kettlebell stand; nearby, a traditional wooden coat rack, a leather punching bag on a freestanding stand, a compact wooden towel cart with folded white towels, and a small, dark-wood refreshment table with a sleek metal water dispenser and stacked shaker bottles complete the cool, slightly futuristic look.

Office

This modern open-plan office features four white laminate workstation desks with metal legs arranged in two facing rows, each desk paired with a black mesh ergonomic task chair and a slim dual-monitor stand, with a shared low mobile pedestal drawer unit between each pair; along one side, a long light oak benching table holds three identical gray fabric desk chairs, a compact black all-in-one printer, and a small metal paper organizer tray, while a central rectangular white conference table is surrounded by six upholstered swivel meeting chairs and centered with a simple black metal desk organizer and a minimalist tray holding two small potted plants; at the far end, a black metal-framed shelving unit with wooden shelves stands next to a lockable tall filing cabinet, and a freestanding coat rack with a minimalist metal base is positioned near the entry side of the office to keep the space organized and neat.
